Your website, last month

Illustrative figures for a made-up business — this shows the shape of the note you get from me every month, not anybody's real numbers.

LEADS, WEEK BY WEEK

THIS MONTH VS LAST

In plain words: about one in nine people who found your site tried to get hold of you — up from one in thirteen last month, so the same traffic is turning into more work. Your best week was the last one. Everything in green is a potential job; grey is just how many people arrived.

WHAT I CHANGED

Your two new photos are up, hours updated for the holiday weekend, and the line you asked about on the 9th is fixed. All live the same day you asked.

Thanks,
Enoch

NEEDED FROM YOU

Nothing. If your hours, prices or services change, or you want an offer running, text me and it is live that day.

What this note will never contain: a number I cannot back up, or work listed that I did not do. If a month is quiet, it says so plainly.
